

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Judy, who has demonstrated exceptional dedication, growth, and work ethic throughout her time in our SQL training programs.

Judy was enrolled in our SQL courses from October through January and subsequently participated in our 6-week internship program, where she worked on real-world data analysis projects. When she first began, Judy had no prior SQL experience outside of the classroom. However, through consistent effort and determination, she quickly developed a strong technical foundation.

What truly sets Judy apart is her work ethic. She is extremely diligent, detail-oriented, and holds herself to a very high standard. Judy approached every assignment with focus and discipline, often going above and beyond to ensure accuracy and completeness. Her commitment to mastering the material was evident in her rapid progression.

During the internship, Judy emerged as a leader within her group. She collaborated effectively with her peers, contributed thoughtful insights, and helped guide her team through complex problem-solving tasks. By the end of the program, she was confidently writing advanced SQL queries spanning multiple pages, utilizing joins, unions, and subqueries to extract and analyze data.

Judy's ability to go from no prior SQL experience to producing sophisticated, multi-step queries in a relatively short period of time is a testament to both her capability and her determination. She is not only hardworking but also a perfectionist in the best sense—someone who takes pride in delivering high-quality work.

I strongly recommend Judy for any role that requires analytical thinking, attention to detail, and a strong willingness to learn. She will be an asset to any team.

Please feel free to reach out if additional information is needed.

Sincerely,

Whitney Pettis
